

Rayat Shikshan Sanstha's
Savitribai Phule Mahila Mahavidyalaya, Satara.

IQAC
Report on Outreach Activity
Academic Year :2019-20

Name of activity: A Rakhi for Soldiers at Border (Value Addition Programme)
A Brief Report

Date/ 14th August 2019

Satara:(14/08) Rayat Shikshan Sanstha's Savitribai Phule Mahila Mahavidyalaya, Satara always organizes various value- based activities to inculcate National and Social responsibilities among the students. Since last three years the girl students of the college collect and prepare more than thousand Rakhis to send for the soldiers at the border. Soldiers are sacrificing their family life for sake of peaceful living of all Indians; they need the affection, love and care of the people to fight with enemies in negative circumstances. Rakhsa bandhan is very holy and traditional festival celebrates all over India. It is celebration of the relation between sister and brother. Brother takes responsibility of sister and obeys the bandhan that means he bides with the holy string and takes responsibility to protect his sister in any situation. Savitribai Phule is college for only women and therefore the girl students think of themselves as the sister of soldiers and therefore this programme is organized in this college.

On this occasion Martyr's widow wife is invited with family members to felicitate bravery and sacrifice. This year Smt. Ujwala Nikam was invited as a chief guest. She motivated the girls and advised them to join the army for sake nation. In the presence of all staff members, students and some soldiers and army officers from NCC Unit and Sainik Welfare Board, Satara at the auspicious hands of Principal Dr. Arun Andhale these Rakhis are handed over to Nayak Hanmant Nikam to send to soldier at border. In the present academic year instead of sending Rakhis at the border some girls from department of Engilsh : Aishwarya Girigosavi, Bhagyashree Titade, Apurva Patil, Tejaswita Aphale, Anjali Kambale, Anjali Adagale, Radha Umberkar and teachers: Dr. Jayashri Aphale and Mrs Asha Jirage and Nayak Hanmant Nikam went to Kolhapur to visit Maratha Battalion No 116. To help the flood affected area's people, many soldiers from all over India were present t Kolhapur. Students and faculty celebrated Raksha Bandhan festival at Kolhapur and handed over box of Rakhis to the army officer. All the soldiers and officers welcome every one by heart. It was really very proud and emotional moment which cannot be forgotten forever. The officio assured to send remaining Rakhis at Bengal border. On the behalf the all soldiers, their officio gifted the sets of glass for the college. It's very touching and pleasant incident which helped inculcate the nationality and social responsibility among the students.

J. J. Phule
IQAC
Co-ordinator

[Signature]
Principal
Savitribai Phule Mahila Mahavidyalaya
SATARA.

Celebration of Rakhi for Soldiers at College

Rakhis handed over to the Military Officio
at Kolhapur
On behalf of Savitribai Phule
Mahila
Mahavidyalaya,
Satara

Rakhi celebration at Kolapur in Maratha
Battalion 116 with

We love our Nation, We love our Soldiers, We are Indian

